John tells the story of his team's pioneering human-powered traverse of Canada's incredible Baffin Island a celebration of wilderness and adventure

 John's images from this expedition were featured in National Geographic magazine, and this lecture was part of the Society's Quest for Adventure Series

*"One of the finest lectures we have had here in many years. Your delivery was perfect: just the right amount of information, humour, excitement & modesty. Your photographs were really superb."
Dr. John Hemming, Director Royal Geographical Society*
